

JOAN ANN HOUSTON

Joanie always loved when I called her "Grandma Joan" and a grandmother is exactly what I looked up to her as. Joan and Alex treated and loved our family like their own. I will never forget that big wave she would give me from the front porch, which then usually resulted in me sneaking over for a popsicle. Your love for cats was something special; so special that it wasn't rare for a box of abandoned kittens to show up on your porch. Whoever left them there knew you were exactly the person to take them in and love them. You always looked over us from the porch and now will watch over from above. Your little Mildred and your "Tom Tom" will miss their visits with you. Until we meet again, enjoy a few games of solitaire☐
