My condolences to Peter and her family. I worked with Kim for many years. She had a great sense of humor and was great to work with. We had many great conversations on our night shifts and during our time in “the dungeon” ranging from birds to the stars to anything and everything else in life. She was a great friend and I will miss her. Rest in peace Kim.

Kim I hope you were carried away by humming birds. Her sense of humor was unique and underrated. You have been missed and will always be from those lucky enough to have worked with you..

Dearest Kim. Such a paltry obituary. You deserve better. So many people have great memories of you. She was quirky and lovely and generous. Interesting as all get out. A beloved friend for 64 years from the day she arrived in Hornepayne. Always full of creativity in many things. Did you know she actually worked as a private investigator at one time and she did a stint working with a psychic? Just a few things that spoke of how interesting and different she was. As a child she and a neighbour snuck out of their houses after midnight to go meet the passenger train at the Hornepayne train station. Why? Well, many musiciens participating in the Woodstock festival were aboard. She got to meet Janis freaking Joplin . Imagine that! She also got grounded for it because low and behold, who was the train engineman - her dad Gene! She was the coolest person ever. Gawd, I loved her. I am so going to miss you. Despite your differences I know you loved your sister Tara. I'm so glad she got to spend some time with you. Thank you for the trip up to Hornepayne one last time summer 2024. We had a blast. So many will miss you. People you loved, your cousins, your Aunt Melody, Danny Ward, Mindi Easton, the Coady family, Marty, Cathy Rawson, etc. Too many to mention. I hope you took to heart the message of the gospel we talked of and if so I hope to be dancing with you and Debbie Grozelle on heaven's golden streets. I'll never forget you.

A beautiful photo to commemorate a beautiful person. My earliest memory of Kim was that little girl who lived on the other side of town with the beautiful long dark ponytail in a single ringlet down her back. Artsy, intelligent, humourous and gone too soon. Much sympathy to all who will miss her deeply. RIP, Kim.

I can't believe you are gone. I'm so happy I got to see you on May 13 and you met Al. We knew your time here had come to an end. So many memories of our life together even with you in Hornepayne and me in Port Colborne. You are now with all the people who were so important to us both. I'm so glad Tara was able to get here and spend time. I will miss you and our phone calls. Fly high and peaceful, you are an angel now. You will always be in my heart cousin.

Kim, I did not know you well but worked with your Mom "back in the day" in the Hornepayne town office. We met occasionally at Hornepayne events and through mutual friends and I had the sense you were, what I consider, eccentric; a true independent individual; which is a compliment. And not an easy journey for a woman. I sensed that life had not often been kind and your protective independence developed as a result. I am glad that Tara was able to be with you. Give my love to your Mom. Godspeed, Kim.

I had the pleasure of working with Kim in the radio room at the Barrie Police Department. We had so many laughs especially when we worked the night shifts and were bone tired. She was a witty one. I am lucky to have known her. My condolences to her family and friends.

Kim and I had many connections over the years. We were raised on Riverside Drive, spent vacations at Wasaga Beach (because her parents were good friends of my relatives in Barrie), had long afternoons of Monopoly and Barbies, learned to figure skate together and eventually lived together in Barrie while attending school. Kim went her way after graduation and experienced true adventure, especially while living in the remote north where she learned beading and Inuit throat singing. I attended her retirement from the Barrie Police Services and it was obvious from the many friendships and respect for her work that she would be missed. I know Kim is no longer in pain and will be welcomed with open arms from all those who went before. She especially missed her nephew. Enjoy your new journey Kim. We'll all be seeing you in a bit. ox
